Professor Buchanan,

I have just attempted to turn in the reading log and Fiction_L assignments to the digital dropbox. It is my first time using that feature of Blackboard and I am not 100% sure that I submitted everything correctly. I will attach both files here just in case something went wrong, and if you are unable to access the papers via Blackboard would like me to resubmit the information to the dropbox, please let me know and I will do so right away. I apologize if there is any inconvenience regarding these assignments.

I also want to thank you for teaching this course. This was not an area of library science with which I'd been particularly familiar, and I have found the material in this course incredibly useful and the assignments very enjoyable. My background is in adult education/educational programming and marketing, so I was (very pleasantly) surprised to realize how closely those areas can relate to librarianship. I just started the program in the fall of 2008, so I'm still being introduced to a lot of new aspects of the field, and I really can't thank you enough for providing such a great "crash course" in adult services; it has really informed my thinking about potential career paths and future projects.

Again, please let me know if I need to correct anything in Blackboard, and thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Kari Walgran
